Abstract

Education plays a key role for shaping the life of learner. The basis aims of education are all-round development of personality. A good personality is sweet like honey. The quality of social and cognitive contribution made by an individual is the yardstick of his personality. The development of personality is based on learner's grassroots level action required for good human being. So the learner should focus some areas such as concentration in learning, know the mistake made by the learner, learner's self-belief, learner's own action, learner's big thinking, learner's effort for success, learner's goal oriented behavior, learner's idea as a resource, learner's passion for learning, learner's opportunities towards success for complete development of mental health, harmony and happiness.

Dear Learners,

On behalf of educationist, I always suggest for holistic development of learner. The learner is the heart and core of whole educational process. The starting and end point of education is learner. The prevailing educational system is highly learner-centered. So learner development is the main focus area of education. It is a man making process. It enables the learner to raise the quality of physical stamina, intellectual power, social upright, emotional balance, and spiritual consciousness, morality high and cultural empowerment. Learning helps the learner to better adjustment in the society, knowledge development, understanding the world phenomena, use of best idea in the best place, apply mental abilities for solving day today problems and decision making power. Learner and learning are the two sides of the same coin. One cannot be meaningful in the absence of the other. So both the learner and the learning process are close and have one heart principles of living. Learning is a mean to change behavior through experience. The change is based on social desirable way.

The objectives of education are philosophical, psychological and sociological. The objectives are target for learners. The objectives of education are socially accepted and universally recognized, so it should be known by the learner. The learner will know the target and better understanding the process of attaining target. The ultimate target for learner is holistic development of personality. It includes the self-realization and self-expression. Self realization means understand the phenomena by heart and self-expression means showing the inner abilities for betterment of society. At birth a child is just a living being. There are various living being live in the world i.e. trees, animals and men. Learner lives in his own perspective in the world. He lives like a human being. The great idea always inspires to live happily. The development of living being to human being is based on education. It plays as an instrument of change in behavior. The change includes internal mindset and human action. The learner requires change in his behavior in the following way, which leads him to be a good human being.

The first focus area for the learner is concentration. It is a mean to achieve the goal. It arises from self awareness. The learner should concentrate on himself first. The concentration of learner helps him to know the goal very clearly and precisely. Learner goal is based on to know, to be, to do and to live together. He should analysis his own strength and weakness and set a platform to enhance his abilities. So every learner concentrates his own mindset as possible as for development.

The second significant area of learner is to know the mistake. Mistake may be arising in goal, approach, procedure, dealing of proper utilization of resource available for learner. Knowing mistake is a mean to improve leaner own strength in the area of weakness. Failure is a part of life. Learner must accept it and be bold in strong mindset for further appearance. Mistake is nothing else but just a matter of not try. Try is the best policy for learner towards human development. So every learner recognizes the significant of mistake as a part of life and follow never die principle in life.

The third area deals with learner's belief. Learner's belief is less mature in comparison to experience person or teacher. The teacher always believes that there is a way to solve problem. Self-belief of learner is the first step towards success. It is based on go forward and upward direction. The starting point of human development is belief own self rather than others. So be a part of self belief, which leads to self worth and development.

The forth guideline deals with going ahead by the learner. The secret of getting ahead is getting started. The learner goes forward by starting his own action. The thought of learner is subjective but action is objective. So learner changes their life from subjective to objective, which leads to human development. Every idea is great in different circumstances. So believe action rather than thought. To be a good human being is a goal and that is subjective view so live life in an objective way. Objective life based on human action. So recognize your own actions towards betterment of life.

The fifth attention area deals with big thinking of the learner. As a learner, you are going to think anything, thing big. Broad idea includes small idea. Broad idea is the ultimate target of human being. Ideas of thinking come every time for learner but the big idea represents the best. Big think help to long term plan of life and it gradually develop human being. Small idea represents limited development where as big idea represents unlimited development.

The sixth point represents learner's efforts. Success is the sum of all efforts repeated day in day out. The present achievement is based on day by day success achieved by the learner in past. Each day is significant for learner. Let start with small effort and add with daily basis and it will be big phenomena. Learner learns many things. Everything is not good for human beings. So the learner first recognizes the best and adds in daily basis for complete development of human abilities.

The seventh recognized area is learner's goal. It is the target of human being. Self recognize the goals of life. Learner with goals succeeds because he knows where he is going. A successful learner always goal oriented. Success means attainment of goals. So every learner must recognize his best goal by own self. Knowing goals of life represent half success. So learner must know his personal goal for success or human development.

The eighth concentration area is learner's idea. Ideas are the resources of learner. Thoughts and ideas are the source of all wealth, success and achievement. Knowing the inner resources of the learner, show success in life. Ideas are a mean to attend the target. So start knowing different ideas, which leads you to be a good human being. Ideas are the thought of a learner. So every learner should think in right direction for human upliftment. The learner should recognize the power of ideas. It is the backbone of learner. All successful learners possess good ideas. Recognize the good ideas within you for your qualitative enhancement of human abilities.

The ninth direction represents passion of learner. It is his strengths of life. It is based on inner power to lead development in life. It includes knowledge, attitude and values in single direction. It energies, sustains and motivates the inner force in desirable direction. The learner wants success but achievements are possible through inner power. It is a strict line or single direction to attend the success in life. The inner force leads your body to attend the target in limited period of time. It heats the target very easily. It is a force or energy to enhance the human capabilities of learner towards qualitative development of life.

The tenth suggested area is learner's opportunities towards success. Successful learner see the opportunities in every difficulties rather the difficulty in every opportunity. Learner life is a mixture of day and night. A successful learner focuses on the day because it is based on opportunities. It is based on positive side of life. Learner must recognize their own talent and use them as per situation arise. Opportunity means looking upward direction or positive side of life. If any situation arise it must be thought in positive direction and believe it is an opportunities to show the talents. It leads you good human being.

The learner is a man, who possesses some quality, which leads him to betterment of life. The learner imagines the quality of human development. Imagination helps the learner to think on different ideas. So let novel thought comes in learner's mind, which leads you to be a good human being. Success and failure is a part of life. Behind every successful learner there are lots of unsuccessful years. So learner thinks in a right direction for your own development. Mind and body are the two side of life. Mind is the force, which enhance human body capabilities. Therefore, strong and beautiful mind is required for learner to become a human being.

The whole world is waiting for you. You are born to blossom. Let come with novel thoughts. It is not only initiates, sustain and force to attainment the goals of life but also helps to realize the self worth, develop values of life, beliefs with human development and understand happiness of life.
